DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The 112 rejections are withdrawn because of the amendments and the remarks made by the applicant.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 9-11, 13, 15, 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Caselli (USPN 5,201,710).

Caselli discloses an interchangeable needle (19), an elongated barrel, a movable base (12), a spring (21) and at least one support member (24). (Figures 3-9 and entire reference)

4. Claims 1-11, 13, 15, 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Pressly, Sr. et al. (USPN 5,613,952).

Pressly, Sr. et al. discloses an interchangeable needle, an elongated barrel, a movable base (11), a spring and at least one support member (31), as well as a retainer catches, and an integral sacrificial seal on the base. (Figures 1-26 and entire reference)

Art Unit: 3763

Pressly, Sr. et al. also discloses a method of operating of the syringe as well as a method of producing the product. (Figures 1-26 and entire reference)

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Caralt Batlle (USPN 5,114,410).

Caralt Batlle discloses an interchangeable needle, an elongated barrel, a movable base (11), a spring and at least one support member (31). (Figures 1-26 and entire reference)

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 12 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 12/24/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With regards to the remarks made in view of Pressly et al. the examiner disagrees with the applicant because Pressly et al. does disclose a movable base and support members. See the above rejection. The examiner would also like even though the invention might be different, the structure that is claimed is the same, and therefore the examiner is keeping the rejection.

With regards to Redfern et al. the examiner withdraws the rejection because of the moveable base that is adapted for slideable movement.
